

Free-range working solutions and processes with SAP Business One®

Hammoudeh, a poultry business composed of 14 companies across various fields, partnered with SkyTech to implement SAP Business One into their organization. With real-time access to data, reports and analytics, the team can now work more efficiently and profitably, even during COVID.

Before: Challenges and Opportunities

- Hammoudeh had grown in size, seeing an increase in volume and daily transactions.
- Local developers of ERP systems tried endlessly to deliver a solution, but never got past developmental stage due to bugs and platform issues.
- Management required a robust, flexible ERP system that would digitalize processes and collect data and analysis.

Why SAP Business One and SkyTech

- SAP Business One is an international brand, which was very competitive cost wise, backed up by a huge support team.
- SkyTech provided invaluable support and worked diligently throughout COVID, managing and driving implementation forwards.

After: Value-Driven Results

- Since implementation, SAP Business One provides management with greater control over all business processes.
- Managers can access their process overviews wherever and whenever they want.
- Full access to real-time data and analytics has sped up decision making and approvals.
- Workflow is much smoother and faster with proper governance and control.
- Customizable dashboards enable users to login and instantly glance their KPIs.

“An ERP system is the backbone and core of any successful business these days. Small and large organizations should implement SAP Business One because it really adds value to any business.”
